REACH SUPPORT FOR LIVING - AN INTRODUCTION

This workshop, co-facilitated with an expert by experience, will introduce you to new Reach resource. We will bring the resource to life, share tips, inspire and challenge each other to stay focused on the true principles of support for living. The aim is to agree a plan for facilitating a Reach review in your agency.

Launched in November 2013 Reach: Support for living an ordinary life was developed to:

- clarify the standards of support for living to ensure that 'supported living' doesn't become a model that people can simply tick as 'achieved'.
- ensure that in the current climate of dwindling financial resources and tightening budgets, we remain committed to quality support
- show how Reach can be useful to people with direct payments or personal budgets.
- ensure we all focus on supporting ordinary lives based on Human Rights.

The course explores :

- how both the It's My Life and the Service review elements can be embedded to improve how you listen to all those supported to improve the quality of support
- your understanding of the eleven Reach standards and what needs to be seen, heard, felt or evidenced for each
- the free online resources available to support your use of Reach
- the principles of Support for Living (Supported Living)
- how you can link Reach with Driving up Quality and regulatory requirements e.g.

What will you gain from the training?

- an understanding of the fundamentals of how to bring Reach support for living to life
- a draft plan of action and team of people identified as the Reach Review team
- tips and skills to facilitate creative discussions engage a range of people in your organisation in your Reach reviews
- an understanding of how to facilitate a Reach support for living review in your agency

Who is the course for?

People supported, family members, support workers, managers, finance and human resource managers, trustees, CEO's and commissioners.
